early days to the 34 that stand today. While the stately older structures reflect the University's roots, the many new classroom buildings and residence halls demonstrate the University's commitment to technology and innovation.

Today, Cal U is a proud member of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education, offering more than 200 undergraduate courses of study and 30 graduate programs, as well as associate degrees and certification programs. The University has been nationally recognized for academic excellence, and for its emphasis on building character as well as careers.

Located just 35 miles from downtown Pittsburgh, Cal U provides a wealth of opportunities for students. Outdoor enthusiasts can enjoy hiking, biking, rafting, skiing and horseback riding nearby. Major retail stores are just minutes away—and so are numerous antique shops and specialty stores. The city of Pittsburgh not only offers diverse cultural experiences, major league sporting events and lively restaurants, but also a vital connection to internships and a dynamic business community.

Then and now

California University of Pennsylvania is steeped in history. Founded in 1852 as California Seminary, it has transformed itself many times—first as a normal school, then a state teachers college, and a state college before becoming a university in 1983. The campus has grown as well, from a handful of buildings in Cal U's about the University, and discover the best ways to explore all that the campus has to offer.

Don't miss the beautiful Founders' Garden adjacent to Old Main. Make a wish at the sparkling fountain in Old Main Park. Marvel at the exquisite stained glass windows of Pennsylvania wildflowers in the Grand Hall of Old Main, as well as the other magnificent works of art located throughout campus. Be sure to check out Roadman Park and Adamson Stadium, home to the California Vulcans. If you are looking for some excitement, head to the Natali Student Center. There's always plenty going on. And check out the newly renovated Steele Hall—a first-rate venue for both local and regional performances.

"Meet me in the Quad..."

"Some days are so busy, I don't get to see my friends very much. So we connect at the Quad and make plans for a get-together, play frisbee or even catch a band. I love this part of the campus. It's like the crossroads of a busy city, with everyone coming and going. You can feel the energy."
